"It has a dreamlike feel in how the game design feels very much like an older MMO title, but with its own charm and own story. Players will be able to enjoy the world through the eyes of the characters that inhabit it. The story is rich and everything about the Elder Story makes this a great title, far surpassing the original "Dark Souls" title for a new generation of players." - Destructoid "Dark Souls meets Morrowind in a clash of warrior blades." - Kotaku GAMES TOWN NEWS Elden Ring Crack official site [ENGLISH] ELDEN RING official site [ENGLISH] Dark Souls meets Morrowind in a clash of warrior blades. Dark Souls and The Elder Scrolls V: Skyrim are the two representative works of the action RPG genre, yet both titles are in their own ways quite different from each other. We are making an action RPG, filled with the same type of blood-curdling atmosphere as Dark Souls and the atmosphere of Skyrim. We want to make a fantasy RPG that is both like Dark Souls and Skyrim and yet unlike either of them, a fantasy RPG with an open world, where the world is centered around the player. We aim to provide players with the same adrenaline rush as Dark Souls while also providing an RPG game that allows players to deeply immerse themselves in a vast fantasy world. We call this game The Elder Story. The story in the Lands Between. A mythological fantasy world. A place where trees and stones grow. The Lands Between. The place where Tarnished Lords dwell. We are creating a fantasy world where even real-time events interconnect. The story is based on a myth. It is a story of a Tarnished Lord that returns to the Lands Between. - THE OPEN WORLD - An action RPG in which the player is in complete control. An open world and seamless navigation. Create your own character with a variety of weapons, armor, and magic. Fight endless enemies. Go on quests. A vast world connected through a single town. A fantasy world in which players have the freedom to freely roam around. A living world filled with people and multiple paths to take. No loading screens. Endless exploration. A fantasy world in which an adventure in a fantasy world makes you thirst for more. bff6bb2d33

Sep 28, 2012 NSW police were on stand by at Sydney Airport yesterday after two more Air New Zealand Boeing 737-800 jets were grounded following the incident at the weekend which involved a hijacking attempt. The jets came in from Auckland and were due to be in Sydney to begin their two-hour return flight to Auckland when the two planes' flight controls froze and they were diverted to Sydney. An employee from United Airlines, which manages the jet, told ABC News Breakfast there were roughly 50 passengers on board. A spokeswoman for Air New Zealand said there were no confirmed reports of injuries, and no passengers had been taken off the aircraft, but added they could not provide any further information as negotiations were ongoing with the hijacker. Police said both aircraft will be grounded for the duration of the investigation, which is expected to last until Sunday. Bomber Pete Middleton said two jets had landed safely with no injuries, and passengers had been moved to the airport lounge for the duration of the investigation. "Two planes have come in... and no injuries to the passengers or employees that I'm aware of," he said. "The plane hasn't taken off... but the passengers are being kept on board until this is completed." Wife: 'I'm stressed' Emotions were raw for a Brisbane couple who said they feared they had lost their only child after an Air New Zealand jet was forced to return to Sydney yesterday. Xian Yang and her husband, Rongfa, were on their way to Auckland from Sydney with their six-year-old daughter, Teera, when the planned flight was diverted to Sydney. They said Teera, a fourth-grader, was her beloved "baby doll". "This incident has been the hardest thing that I have ever experienced. This is the time we lost our daughter," Mrs Yang said. "I'm stressed. I need to do something to help her. She was just too young. It's not fair for her." Mr Yang, a consultant at an engineering firm in the CBD, had cancelled his work schedule to be at Sydney Airport for what was to be his daughter's first flight, and paid for Teera's fare on their return flight.
